

RANDOM FACT

A National Safety Council study worked out that the chance of a person being attacked by a shark is approximately 1 in 3,748,067. Statistically, this means you are more likely to be injured by a vending machine than a shark!

MOCATS Spot the Difference

RIMA FIVE differences to look for

